

Getting The Most From Your Employees

As a manager in a local factory you believe that your workers:

- enjoy the work that they do;
- can be trusted and relied upon to do their job;
- will work hard for suitable rewards;
- can work without supervision;
- can be trusted to make decisions;
- are not just motivated by money.

You have an important order that must be completed by the end of the week.

“Come on, come on we’ve only got a week to get this order done!!!!”

Question:

How would you put this to the workers in order to encourage them to complete the order on time?
